

Article Overview

Italy hosts several specialized optical component suppliers, including Tecnottica Consonni, Optec S.p.A., and On Optics!, offering lenses, prisms, filters, mirrors, and custom optical assemblies.

Key Suppliers

Tecnottica Consonni SRL Founded in 1957, Tecnottica Consonni specializes in glass and plastic optical components and complete optical systems for imaging, illumination, biomedical, automotive, laser, and aerospace applications. They provide customized production, including spherical and aspherical lenses, prisms, optical filters, mirrors, and light guides. Additional services include anti-reflective and reflective coatings, thermal and chemical tempering, opto-mechanical design, assembly, testing, and certification of optical systems . Optec S.p.A. Optec focuses on optical and optoelectronic solutions, including SWIR lenses, laser systems, and high-performance optical instruments. They emphasize customized development and advanced technologies, serving sectors such as aerospace, research, and industrial applications . On Optics! This company provides optical and photonic materials for research laboratories, including lenses, filters, and optical fibers. They also offer expert guidance to help select components tailored to specific scientific or industrial needs . Additional Suppliers

- o CrestOptics SpA: Advanced systems for fluorescence microscopy and spectroscopy, targeting biotech and research industries .
- o Optec Ellegi Medical Optics srl: Specializes in ophthalmology instruments like lensmeters and slit lamps .
- o Bio-Optica: Focused on anatomic pathology instruments and reagents .
