

Price list for electrical distribution box switches

Article Overview

Electrical distribution box switches vary in price depending on brand, type, and specifications, with Legrand and Schneider Electric offering detailed 2026 price lists.

Brand-Specific Pricing

Legrand offers a wide range of distribution boxes and switches, including DX3 MCBs, DX3 Isolator Switches, DX3 RCBOs, Ekinox SPN, ETPN, and TPN distribution boards, as well as plug & socket DBs and metal enclosures. Prices vary by model, amperage, and configuration, and detailed 2026 price lists are available through Legrand's official PDF catalog or distributors like Ampkart . Schneider Electric provides switches and wiring devices suitable for indoor and outdoor applications, including RCDs, surge protection devices, and modular switches. Their pricing depends on specifications such as voltage rating, current capacity, and environmental protection. A 2025 price list is available for reference, and customers are advised to contact the customer care center for stockable and non-stockable items .

General Market Pricing

- o Residential distribution boxes: Single-phase units typically range from $20 to $150, depending on the number of circuits and material quality.
- o Commercial/industrial distribution boxes: Three-phase or high-capacity units can range from $200 to $1,000+, especially for weather-resistant or IP-rated enclosures.
- o Switches and modular components: Individual switches, MCBs, or RCBOs generally cost $5 to $50 per unit, with higher-end models featuring smart monitoring or surge protection costing more .

Factors Affecting Price

- o Number of circuits: More circuits increase cost.
- o Material and durability: Metal enclosures and IP-rated boxes are more expensive.
- o Brand and certification: Premium brands like Legrand and Schneider Electric command higher prices.
- o Customization: OEM branding, busbar modifications, and special mounting options can increase cost .
- o Installation and accessories: Additional costs include mounting kits, cable end boxes, and meter boxes.
